MOM ALERT!

Is This Being Distributed in YOUR Child's School?

Gender confusion has become a standard in our culture and unbeknown to many parents, it is being pushed and even promoted in our children's schools. This Genderbread flyer, and its different variations, (see following pages) is being circulated as curriculum in elementary and middle schools across the country. It comes with "teaching tools" to help teachers explain gender identity to students and explore their own identity.

The Intro to the flyer states:

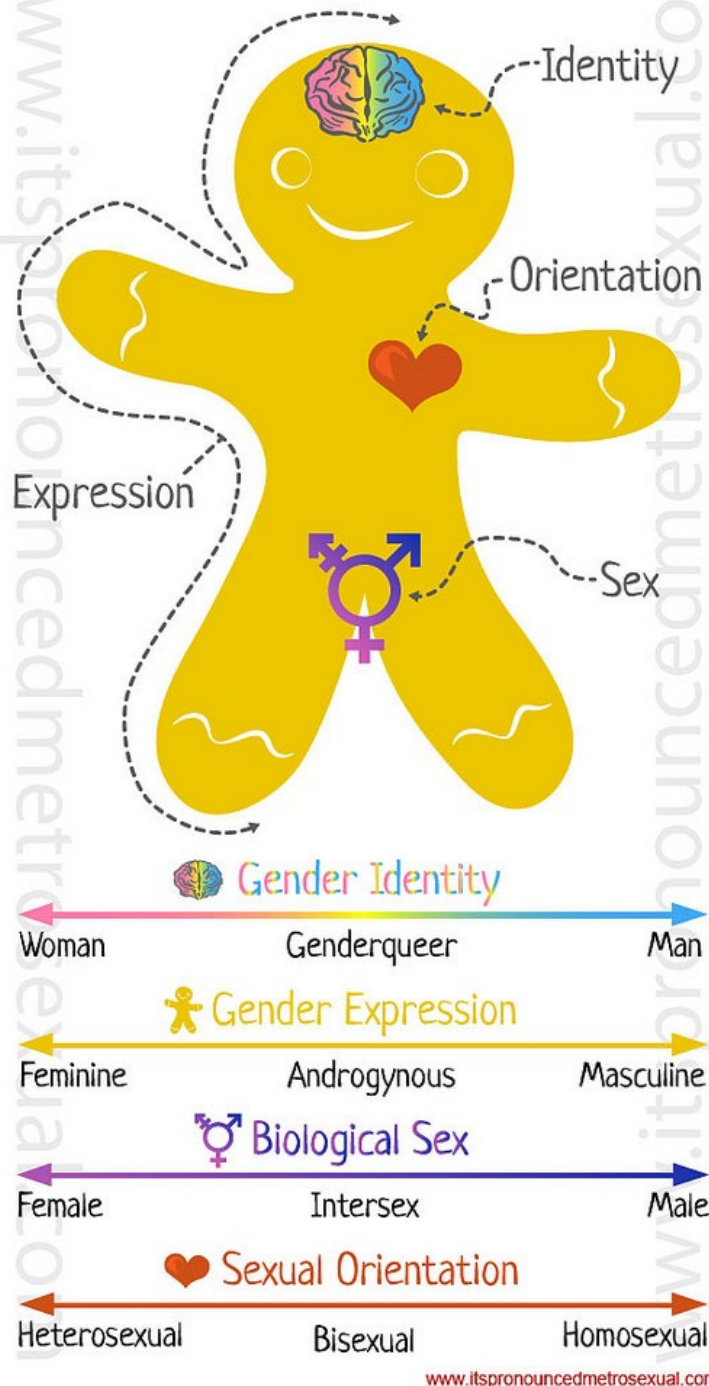

A person's identity is made up of many parts, including their gender identity, gender expression, biological sex, and sexual orientation. Sam Killermann's "The Genderbread Person" can be a helpful tool for exploring each part.

Students are encouraged to "Take a moment to reflect on your gender identity, gender expression, biological sex, and sexual orientation."

Suggested questions for student discussion and "reflection" include:

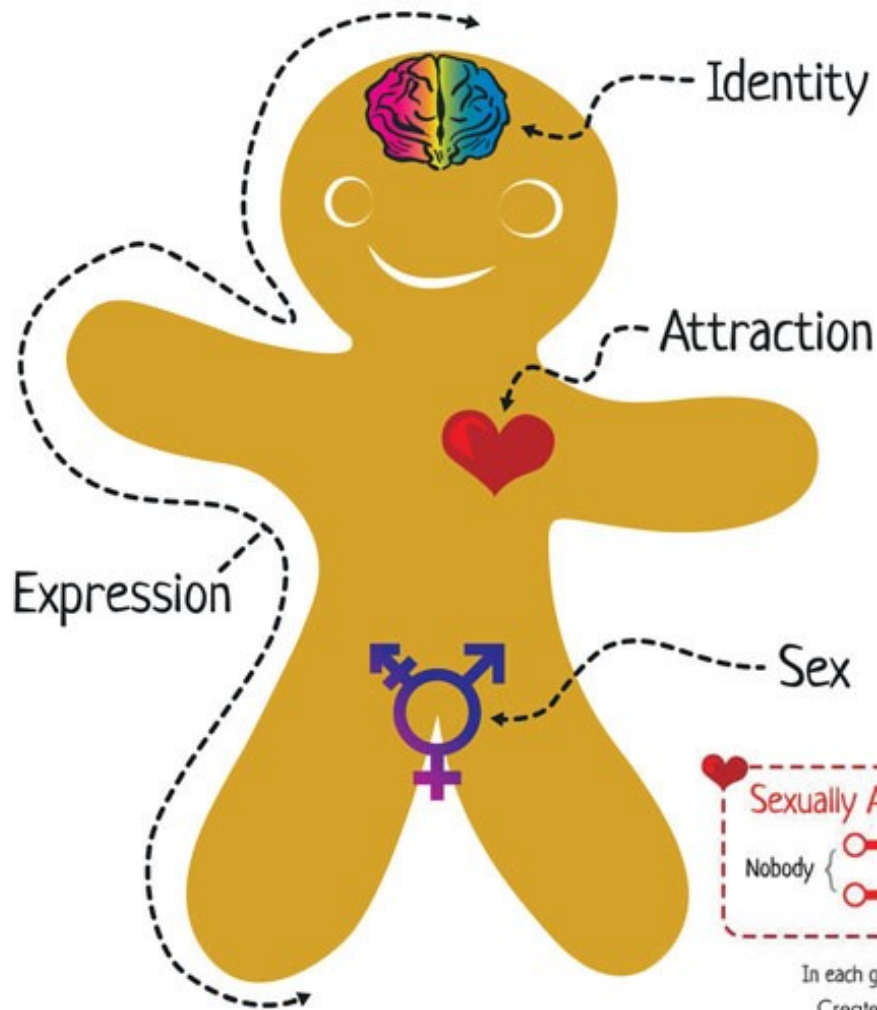

- What are the traditional expectations in your culture(s) for each aspect of your identity?
- In what ways do you conform to these gender expectations? In what ways are you different?
- When you, or people you've known, look or act in ways that do not conform to gender expectations, what have the consequences been?

While most parents would like to assume this is NOT in their children's schools, the fact it most probably is. The subject is certainly being presented in schools at all levels, creating anxiety and gender confusion in many children. This is something we need to be aware of so we can adequately protect, prepare our children against these dangers.

The Genderbread Person v3.3

Gender is one of those things everyone thinks they understand, but most people don't. Like Inception. Gender isn't binary. It's not either/or. In many cases it's both/and. A bit of this, a dash of that. This tasty little guide is meant to be an appetizer for gender understanding. It's okay if you're hungry for more. In fact, that's the idea.

Plot a point on both continua in each category to represent your identity; combine all ingredients to form your Genderbread

4 (of infinite) possible plot and label combos

In each grouping, circle all that apply to you and plot a point, depicting the aspects of gender toward which you experience attraction.

DE GENDERKOEK

Ieder denkt dat hij weet wat gender is, maar toch blijkt het altijd toch net iets complexer. Het is niet binair. Niet of/of. Soms zelfs en/en. Een beetje dit, een beetje dat. Een hele koek kortom, en daarom de moeite waard om er je tanden eens in te zetten: wie ben jij?
